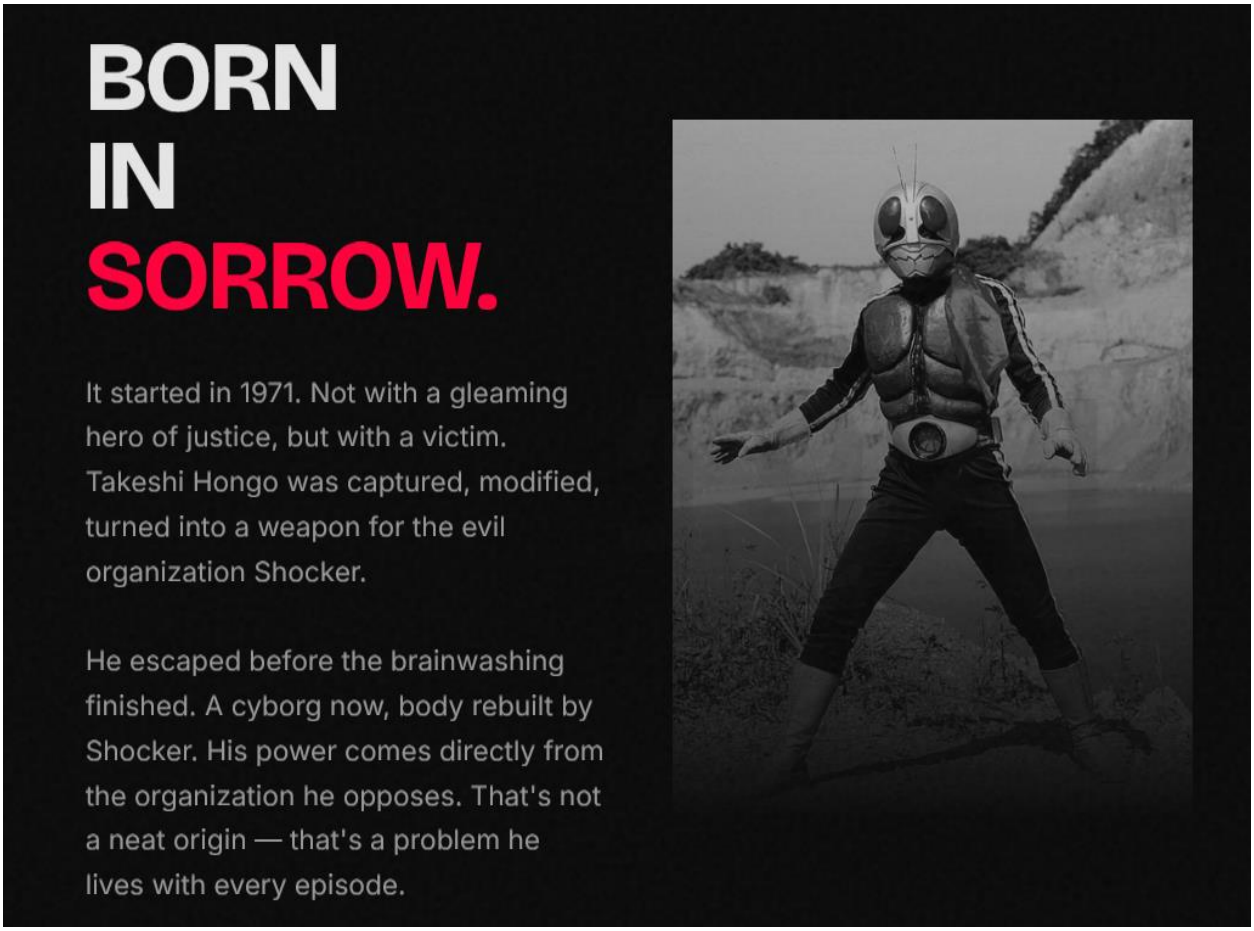
Sariol Jama Paolo – 21st Century IT Skills

Initial Prompt

“a one page minimalist but whimsical passion page/blog for Kamen Rider”

Refinement Prompts:

“where can i access the source code”
“make the dialogue a little less corny”



“introduce some of that green in the colors”

BORN IN SORROW.

It started in 1971. Not with a gleaming hero of justice, but with a victim. Takeshi Hongo was captured, modified, turned into a weapon for the evil organization Shocker.

He escaped before the brainwashing finished. A cyborg now, body rebuilt by Shocker. His power comes directly from the organization he opposes. That's not a neat origin — that's a problem he lives with every episode.

“have the font be something a little more blocky”

“keep the first header's font”

“for the others, can we have something less narrow”

Final Reflection:

What worked well was that the entire website from the get-go was already looking pretty decent, apart from the AI generated stock images that came with it. I requested to look at source code so I could find the image links and replace it with actual images.

For the most part, the prompting was very intuitive. Tell it what you need to see and it’ll do it for you. Though, there might be some back and forth before you can finally land on the result that you envisioned in the first place.
